E-books:

Why haven't they been published online yet?

I had a lot of delays to take on and that's part of it.

Almost everything I planned was late, or just about everything I wrote online had errors in writings, but, it does not matter since I'm coming back to what I did to improve it.

Since the last few days I have been working on several things, so there are some written Psychology-works in preparation for evaluations (physical) in Paris on February 4th and then in Lyon in mid-February.

I also made catch-ups for the Observatory.

I start some analog-photography artworks since I have the chance to live in the swamp for a while and my neighborhood is absolutely amazing.

Very inspiring and fun, but I live right next to many photo shops too, which accentuates my focus.

To be honest, I couldn't take a lot of things because my 5 years life place allowed remaining packaging and storage for free to save me money!

Then I am allowed to travel super light and to move all my stuff at the time of my departure and in the meantime, I will do things of photographs, even if I don't find me ready or not yet developed enought to use money I have placed in the photographic films.

I have to try! So it might be a good idea to put into practice everything I study and write.
