

Images formations. Open post.

Image: Galena Crystal.

Galena is also called lead glance and is one of important natural mineral form in my research results.

This is an open post as it provides clues on several compositions in progress.

I don't know how I will organize all I have to learn and what i have learned on analog photographs and photosites but if you want join my mental journey on it plus what will comes out, you know what to do.

The depth next updates will locked but it will happens some blog post and, in tumblr

Update: More about it by World Wide Web Tab.

I wanted to write about the spoofing.

I was quite hallucinated by the amount of misappropriated information.

By re organizing my scriptures for updates to a Pdf form and add a timeline in my website, I count practically that all my resources have been diverted.

I'll let it fly for a moment since I think it's pretty clear to browse my updates to understand.
