What does it cost ?

Since November 2018, it is an extreme part of my development.

I see that all this brings me to the highest point.

I cannot devote more patience to this greedy black hole that pumps my energy so I'm like in orbit right now.

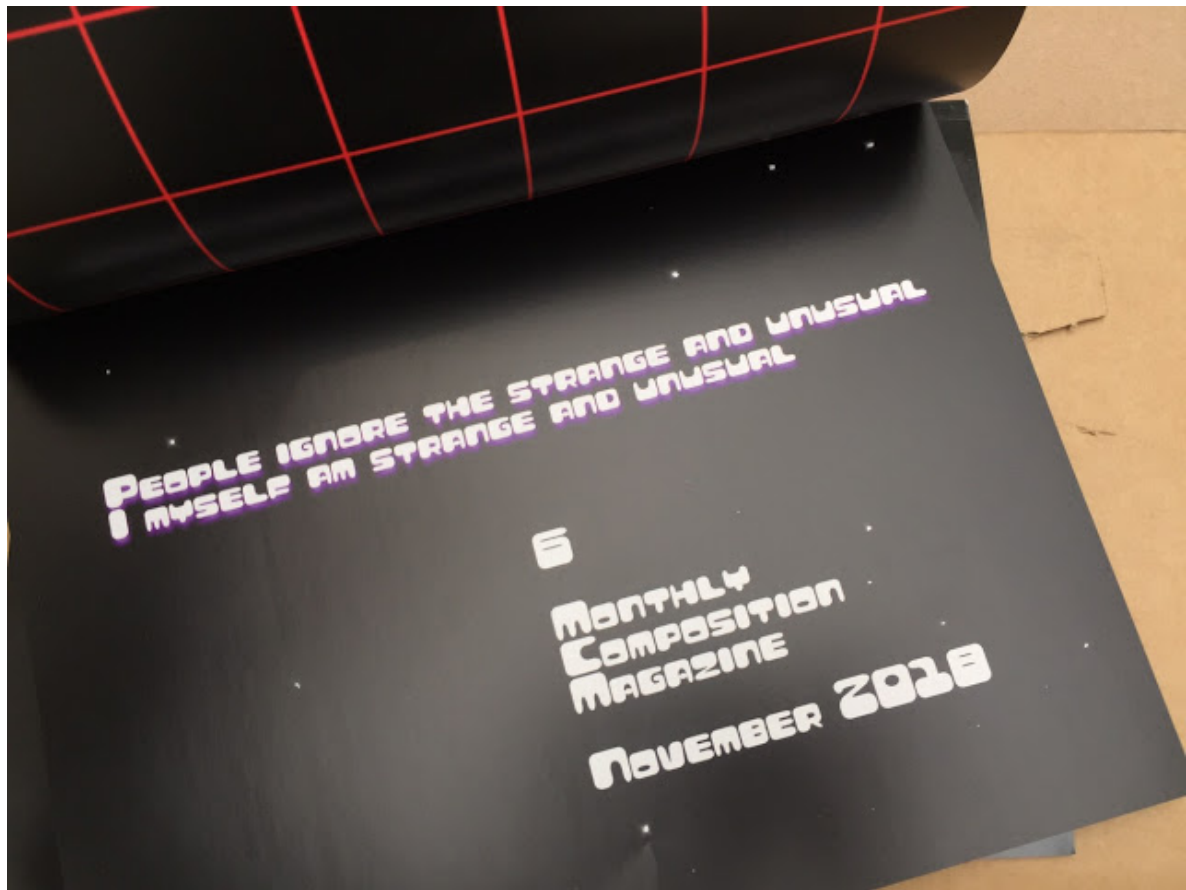

I cannot say that things have all gone wrong, but, my energy has been consumed and I feel bad as a limit near to be reached.

So I have several options but I currently up the sector related to studies and experiences, extended in magazines.

This magazine starts somehow over a year, various center of interest will become the resources to the subjects in progress: photos and texts, added to Astronomy studied in class, in personal research, and all my previous (art)works under development in the fields of Arts and Sciences.

Getting all my motivation right now.

I've been through an area of turbulence so how long is going to take my re-organization is not even a question I'm asking to myself because I guess I can not afford the luxury of set dates so I just going to conquer the difficult hours and I will use my abilities, what makes me sparkling.
