

Baby mag. Update 4.

I did the last for the lunar phase, before the layout, because it will not possible to wait for the next lunation, for this issue, but, not the last in terms of image:

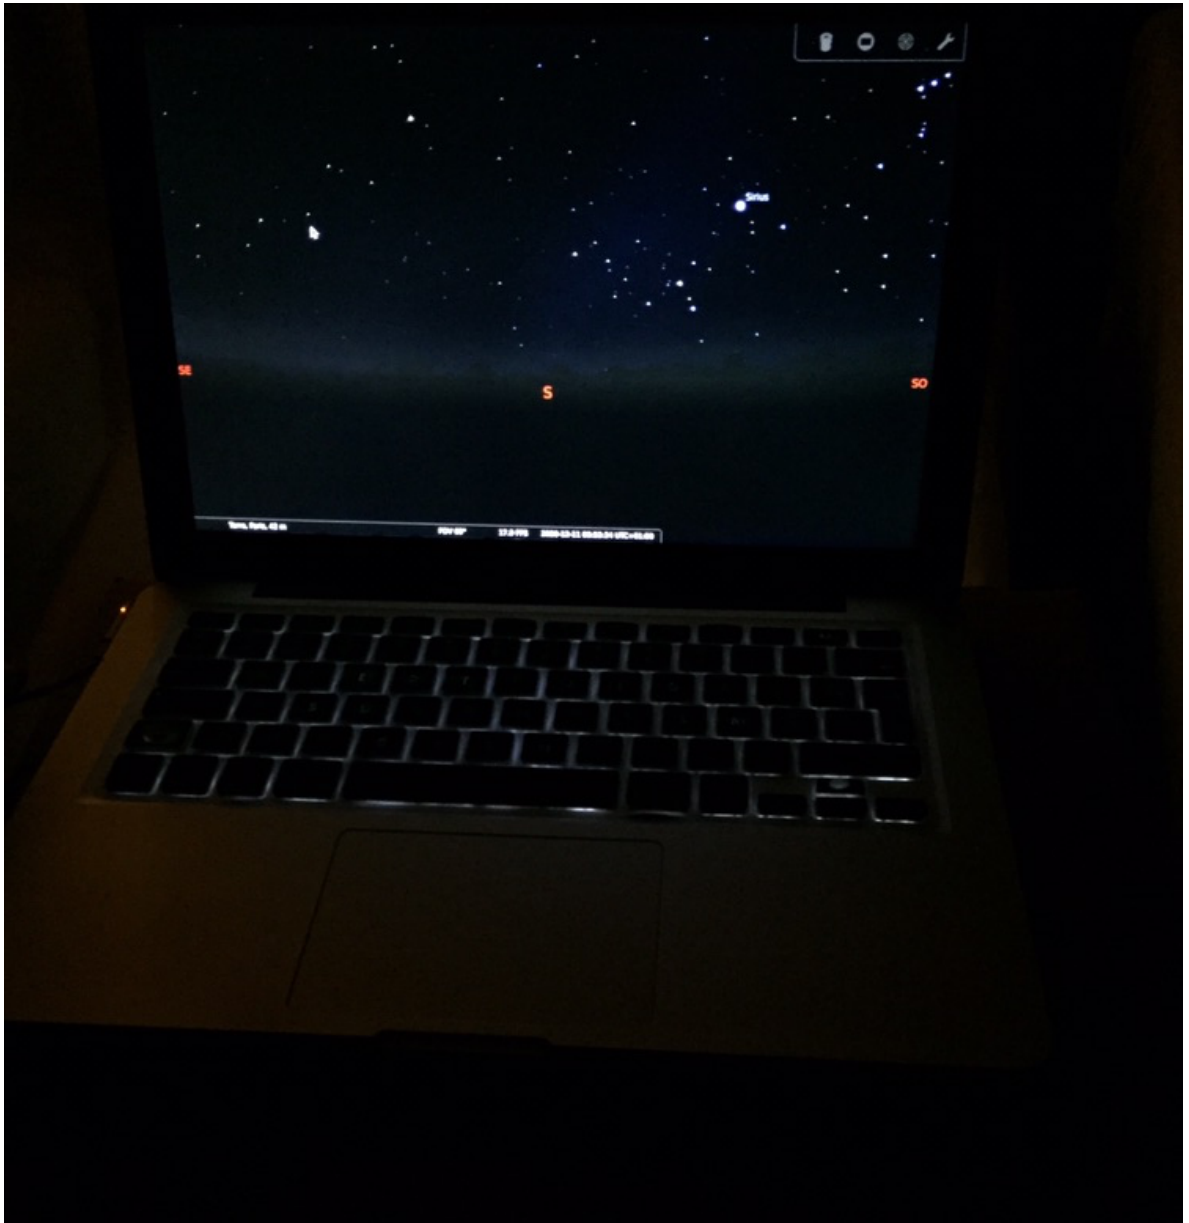

Samples serie analog, that I will use in the magazine, using the two tapes ended.

The paper version of these samples will be lovely, and I hope I have the budget to make a matt version and a glossy version but I don't think so because the mag under construction will have a lot of pages, so that's for later.

There is a link, on one of my two classes in Open University.

Awesome University, where I was introduced.

Iam really amazed and can't wait to do more with them!
